THE TRANSVAAL REPUBLIC.

The Uitlanders have found a champion in the present English government. These Uitlanders are almost wholly Englishmen engaged in gold or diamond mining. Their enterprises far exceed in importance all the farming and stock-raising that the Boers carry on. Their chief town, Johannesburg, contains over 100,000 people, while Pretoria, the capitol of the republic, contains about 5,000 people. The Uitlanders pay the greater part of the taxes; they are compelled to do military service, and yet they are not permitted to have a Speed Limit Reached, and B. ats voice in public affairs. They are not permitted to vote or take part in eyen strictly local elec-
